Book Publishing

Think about:

- Reputation and suitability of publisher
- Targeted audience
- Marketing
- Distribution
- Copyright situation
- Availability of e-book version, paperback version
- Vanity presses and print-on-demand publishers

Book Publishing

Book Chapters / Edited Books

- Covering specific topic
- Best “hidden” research publications

- Discoverability improves (Web of Science, Scopus add books)

Book Publishing

Book Chapters / Edited Books

Scopus at a glance, updated August 2017:

- 22,800+ titles (see section 4.1):
 - Over 21,950 peer-reviewed journals (including over 3,600 full open access journals)
 - 280 trade publications
 - Over 560 book series
 - Over 8 million conference papers from over 100,000 worldwide events
 - “Articles-in-Press” from over 8,000 journals (see section 5)
 - More than 150,000 books with 20,000 added every year

Selecting a Journal

Think about:

- Journal scope
- Editorial board
- Peer review system
- Open Access Publishing
- Targeted audience
- Acceptance/rejection rates
- Turn around times
- Terms and conditions
- Impact Factor metrics

Selecting a Journal

Impact Factor metrics

- Look for journals with high impact factors, but:
 - Impact factor metrics should only be a guide for selecting journals for publishing
- Consult with peers about scope
- Publishing in high impact factor journals generally generates, but does not guarantee high citation rates

Finding journal metrics:

- Journal Impact Factor (JIF) – Library subscription
- CiteScore (Scopus) – Library subscription
- ScImago Journal Rank (SJR) – freely available
- Source Normalized Impact per Paper (SNIP) – freely available

A navigation menu on the left includes links for 'About', 'Criteria for inclusion', 'Approval procedures', 'Revision of ERIH journals', 'Contact', 'Search', 'Download current list', and 'Help'. Below this, there are sections for 'Registered user' (with links for 'Register new user', 'Login', and 'Submit new journal') and 'NSD Indexes' (with links for 'Norwegian Register' and 'ERIH PLUS'). A Facebook icon is also present. The main content area shows a search bar with 'Title or ISSN:' and a dropdown menu for 'Discipline:' set to 'Anthropology'. A 'Search' button is located to the right. Below the search bar, a message states 'The search returned 418 hits.' and a list of search results is displayed. The results are numbered 1 through 4, each showing the journal title, print and electronic ISSN, country of publication, language, and discipline.

Political Science journals: acceptance rates & turnaround time

What are the prospects for getting work published in political science related journals, and how long can authors expect to wait from a title before a first decision on a manuscript submission? The table below lists information for peer reviewed political science journals about journal final acceptance rates and turnaround times for manuscripts sent for external review. Data is for the last collection period editors can provide (mostly 2011) and excludes journal special issues. 'Turnaround time' is defined as the date from when a manuscript was first received by the journal to the date the author of the manuscript was provided with a first decision.

Journal	Publisher	Acceptance Rate % mean average	Turnaround mean number of days to 1st decision	Europe, US, other publisher address + days)

Collaboration

- Collaborate with researchers in other institutions
- Co-authored papers, especially with international authors, are cited more frequently
- Collaboration can lead to better quality research due to the complementary skills of the team

Name and Address Standardisation

- Always use the same name variation throughout your career
 - e.g.: J Muller
 - Not: J Müller / J Mueller
- Use standardised address
 - e.g. Univ Pacific, Dept Biol Sci, Stockton, CA 95211 USA

Using Name Identifiers

- Name identifiers eliminate name ambiguity
 - 37 David Byrne in Scopus

Personal Information

Biography
Rebecca Bryant joined ORCID in April 2013 as Director of Community. In this role, she develops relationships, programs, and communications to support the understanding and integration of ORCID identifiers. Prior to joining ORCID, she served as Assistant Dean in the Graduate College at the University of Illinois where she led numerous initiatives, including the establishment of graduate career services, the creation of a postdoctoral affairs office, and the collaborative implementation of Electronic Theses and Dissertations (ETDs). Dr. Bryant earned a bachelor's degree at Butler University, a master's degree from the University of Cincinnati College-Conservatory of Music, and a PhD from the University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign.

ORCID

Facilitates the interoperable exchange of information

- Less time re-keying
- Improved data
- Easier maintenance
- Better sharing across systems

The ORCID API supports system-to-system communication and authentication, further helping to connect research and researchers around the world.
